When collecting personal details of the passengers that are necessary to carry out ticket reservations, obtain boarding cards or contract any other service available on Baleària's website, the personal data protection regulations and the security regulations of these details must be complied with as provided for Organic Law 15/1999, of 13 December, on Data Protection, and in the regulations which refer to it.

In particular, the customers must be informed of the details to which article 5 of said Law refers, which appear in the PRIVACY AND DATA PROTECTION POLICY section of the General Terms and Conditions of Use of Baleària's website, regarding the existence of a file or the handling of personal data, the purpose of collecting this data, the recipients of the information, the possibility of exercising the rights of access, rectification, cancellation and opposition, and the identity and address of the manager responsible for its handling or his/her representative and other legal provisions.

Furthermore, the Agency must adopt the necessary technical and organisational measures, which guarantee the security of the personal data and avoid its alteration, loss, unauthorised handling or access; the data collected in this section cannot be applied to purposes different to those provided for, nor can they be communicated to other people; the instructions provided for on Baleària's website and its terms of use must be followed at all times.
